

addicted to angels

by sean gould

im addicted to an angel i met on the street such charm and beauty was a pleasure to meet the sun broke through the cloud the moment she smiled i felt a rush of excitement just like a child i felt a sensation like never before just one touch and im begging for more overwhelmed by her heavenley charms i would give my life just to be in her arms shes not like any other girl that is no lie maybe the good lord sent her down from the sky i am so cativated i only have one thing to say angel please your wings and fly me away written 20 january 2008